Students concerns:

- Financial stability

Financial Stability: Students are better positioned to succeed when they can access timely aid, understand the full cost of attendance, and find resources to support their education. For example:

*FAFSA and financial aid processing: Offer application workshops, one-on-one help, and regular updates on aid status or update of the status of the Students application.
*Affordability and hidden costs: Clearly explain expenses such as textbooks, transportation, technology, and course fees, and connect students with relevant assistance.
*Funding opportunities: Share scholarships, emergency grants, work-study positions and other funding options through easy-to-find, timely communications.

Call of Improvement

Proposal for Campus Facility improvements: Open Activity Court and Student center upgrade:

- A multi-purpose open court would support Students volleyball, Basketball, student organization fairs, and cultural events, promoting physical health and stronger peer connections across campus.
- The existing student center now leave students expose to both intense tropical heat, blowing dust and rain. Which makes it very difficult to avoid maintaining good health,relax, and study. Therefore adding proper walls, windows and doors along with reliable air-conditioning will protect students from the heat, dust and sudden weather changes.

In conclusion

In closing, when we stand together as one student body across all our campuses, we become stronger and ready to achieve our goals. By choosing shared purpose over distance and difference, we turn challenges into opportunity. Together, we can build an inclusive, thriving college that lifts up every student and reflects the best of COM-FSM. Kinisou!
